

SCHOOL OF HUMANITIES

Our colleagues have been working hard to pull together a suite of high quality activities for you to engage with during these current circumstances. We can't wait for you to get involved!

WHAT'S ON OFFER?

The School of Humanities wish to help teachers and students in the local area by offering materials to support teaching and learning.

They are creating live webinars for A Level students and staff. These will cover a real range of subjects, such as English Literature, English Language, Creative and Professional Writing, Linguistics, Religious Studies, and Philosophy.

HOW TO ACCESS

The resources and joining instructions can be found by following the link below, click on the calendar document and you will find up-to-date information on these activities and others.

Click here

WEBINARS

The webinars covering these topics will be on the following dates:

For English teachers:

- 11-07-2020, 9am-11am and 12pm-2pm: Literature Responds to the Corona Crisis

For English teachers and A Level students:

- 14-07-2020, 2pm: Linguistic Discrimination and Accentism
- 14-07-2020, 4.30pm-5.30pm: Dr Lisa Blower and Dr Bob Francis talk about their recently published novels on the topics of region, writing and identity.
- 23-07-2020, 12.00 - 2.30pm : English Literature Masterclass on Kazuo Ishiguro
- 27-07-2020, 4pm-5pm: Final year students and their tutor will be presenting their research on Black Country Dialect Humour and their project (funded by the National Heritage Lottery, 'Finding our Funny Roots').